Rarities

We've scoured the globe for for the "old dusties," and we're excited to share them with you!

Jim Beam, 75 mos, "200 yr Anniversary," 1995 LTD, Bourbon, - Kentucky, 95 Proof - 90

This rare find is one for the ages. Matured for just over six year, this bottling was released to commemorate 200 years of tradition at Jim Beam. The collector's edition is finished with a ceramic top, brainging to mind classic stoppers from a day long forgotten.

I.W. Harper, "1970's Bottling - Gold Label," Bourbon - Kentucky, 86 Proof - 70

I.W Harper has a long history dating back to when bourbon helped make instant friends with strangers. We've found a few of these dusty bottles over the years from the 70's. The purity to these old whiuskies is that you cant quite describe unless you've tasted it yourself.

Old Crow, 6 yr, "Early 70's Bottling," Bourbon - Kentucky, 95 Proof - 75

Old Crow Bourbon is named for Dr. James C. Crow, the inventor of the sour mash process, which is a process that makes mighty fine whisky. In Fact, in 1835 Old Crow bourbon was the first bourbon to begin using th process that today, has become a standard in the bourbon industry.

Sazerac, "Antique Collection - Summer 2018," Rye - Kentucky, 90 Proof - 80

Rye whiskey is synonymous with the Sazerac Company, becoming the key ingredient in the Sazerac cocktail which they sold at their eponymous coffee house in the late 19th century. The coffee house was run by Thomas H. Handy until his death in 1893.
