

YOU'RE INVITED TO A
SPECIAL VIRTUAL TASTING

Join the Bounty Hunter Scouts for a very special tasting session with The Macallan's own brand ambassador (and former standup comedian) Kieron Elliott. We'll be meeting up with Kieron at the Bounty Hunter Wine Bar in Napa, but you can join us from the comfort of your own home. Pull up a chair and your favorite bottle for a mini-masterclass on one of the world's leading single malt whiskies.

For centuries before Alexander Reid founded what was then called Maghellan, farmers were making whisky on their Speyside farms in the quiet winter months. As a farmer and a teacher, Alexander may have believed that a thing worth doing, was worth doing well; He was among the first to claim a distilling license at a time when rebellious neighbors just might shoot you for buying into the 1823 Excise Act that required it. That's just the beginning; The Macallan is both a scotch and a story worth sharing! Enjoy Kieron Elliott's 'Brief History of the Macallan' before the event for an entertaining deep dive into the tales behind the drams. Don't worry, this assignment will not be graded.

A little about your host:

Kieron Elliott is a native of Scotland with a natural yen for both drinking and storytelling. After a long stint in La La Land as an entertainer, actor, voice-over artist, and standup comedian, plus a couple of decades working in the world of spirits, Scotland is home once more. Still, you're as likely to come across him on the open road, anywhere from Laguna Beach to Alaska, telling the remarkable story of the King of Single Malt Scotch: The Macallan. On November 9th, join us virtually as he graces us with a glass of whisky and a few stories at our Napa HQ.
